OBJECTING TO BROOM'S LICENSE

File Remonstrances to Granting Liquor License to William H. Broom, Present Proprietor of the Wabash Hotel.

Two remonstrances against the granting of a license to William H. Broom, proprietor of the Wabash Hotel, were filed in the office of Clerk of the Courts Olinger on Thursday evening and will come before the court next Friday. The one petition was signed by twenty two white residents of the southern section of town, and the other by seven colored citizens. The petition states that the objections are not against the place sought to be licensed but against the applicant and to his fitness to have license granted to him.

"Liquors have been furnished to men in conveyances," says the remonstrance, "and on horseback in the alley from the bar room door and windows and is drunk in full public view and often by individuals in intoxicated condition. This furnishing and exhibition prevents the landlord from having such oversight of the use made of liquors sold at his place as the law contemplates.

"The hotel, during the tenancy of the present applicant, has had a large trade among the white and colored people of the town, specially on Saturday nights. This trade in going to and from his place of business is often noisy and unseemly exhibitions of conduct and language are frequent, congregating on pavements on Baltimore and High streets, obstructing the passage, engaging in loud, boisterous, often improper and indecent language, and this both from males and females who have frequented the place, and the applicant has never made any known attempt to prevent such disturbances of the public peace on the thoroughfares of the town.

"The conducting of this hotel as a drinking resort for the white and colored population has done great harm to many of the white and colored citizens and for the good of these citizens and the community this hotel should be conducted on different lines."

SUICIDES AFTER DEATH OF CHILD

Miles Fridinger Shoots himself at his Home in Hanover after Brooding over the Death of Only Child. Former Adams Countian.

Miles Fridinger, aged thirty-two years, formerly of this county, committed suicide in his home in Hanover, at 11 o'clock Wednesday morning, by shooting himself twice in the head. The death of a child about six months ago, to which he was greatly attached, and over which he is said to have brooded much is believed to have been the cause for his act.

Fridinger was at his home Wednesday morning and it is said that he acted in a peculiar manner. It is reported that he threatened to take his life. His wife became frightened and ran to the home of a neighbor next door. While she was absent he went to the second floor of his home and shot himself. Mrs. Fridinger heard the shots and immediately returned home and found her husband dead.

Fridinger used a 32-caliber pistol. He first fired a shot into his head back of the right ear. This failed to end his life and he then placed the muzzle of the revolver into his mouth and fired. The second shot passed through the base of the brain and caused instant death.

Several years ago Fridinger went from his home in Adams county to California. While there his wife became ill and they were compelled to return East. They moved to Hanover and Fridinger secured employment in the Long table works.

About six months ago Mrs. Fridinger was taken sick and was taken to the York hospital for treatment. While she was in the hospital, their three year old child, which was the only one born to the couple, died. The father since that time is said to have often been melancholy, but he gave no intimation of an intention of ending his life until Wednesday morning.

Mrs. Fridinger is suffering much from the nervous shock brought on by the finding of her husband's dead body and the incidents leading up to the suicide.

DIES NEXT DAY AFTER MARRIAGE

Wedded at Highfield One Day, the Groom Dies the Next. Bride Nursed him during his Last Illness. Ill some Time.

Defeated in a long, uphill fight with death, Frank Robertson, Baltimore, yielded to the pleadings of his fiancée, Miss Matilda E. Rentz, of Trenton, N. J., who had nursed him in his illness and the two were married. The ceremony was performed in Highfield, Monday, and early Tuesday Robertson died.

Accompanied by the bride of a day, the body was taken to his home in Baltimore.

The romance which was blighted by the death was marked by the self sacrificing devotion of the bride. When all hope of recovery for the young man had been given up by the attending physician, Miss Rentz would not agree to their verdict. Constantly at his bedside, she fought to save his life and while there a complication of diseases made him weaker and weaker but she remained cheerful and hopeful.

On Monday, when the doctors announced that death was but a few hours away, the sorrow-stricken young woman pleaded with Robertson that they be married.

With a doctor in attendance to give him aid, the ceremony was performed by a clergyman hastily summoned. At first it was planned to delay the wedding until some of the relatives of the two could reach Highfield, but the rapidly failing condition of Robertson made a quick ceremony necessary.

Robertson, who had been in poor health for several months, had gone to Highfield two months ago. After being there a short time his condition became worse. Through friends of the young man, Miss Rentz learned of the serious illness of her fiancée and went to Highfield. So grave was his condition that after a talk with the attending physician she determined to take up her residence in the little Maryland town and nurse her lover.

The two young persons became acquainted more than a year ago, while Miss Rentz was visiting friends in Baltimore. They became engaged, and the wedding day was set for the latter part of the year. Then the young man was taken ill. Although partially cured, his physician ordered him to take a complete rest in the hope that the change would bring him back his health.

As Mr. Robertson had friends in Highfield, he determined to go there. But the change failed to benefit him, and when attacked with fever he was unable to throw it off. A general breakdown followed the first attack, and the young man, too ill to be taken back to his home in Baltimore, was treated in Highfield.

A LEADING QUESTION

Lion and the Mouse Shows in Gettysburg Next Week.

"The Lion and the Mouse" which the United Play Company will present in this city at the Wizard Theatre, Thursday, January 9, is an American play, essentially and conspicuously such and based upon a theme which has not been before exploited dramatically. It deals directly with a subject which at the present moment is very much in the public mind,—the corruption of politics and legislation by the power of combined money making organizations and the dominance of unscrupulous kings of finance.—advertisement.

SIPE—MCCLARY

Farmers, rural mail carriers and all others using the country roads report them to be in a very rough condition, as the result of freezing and thawing, with heavy rains.

Local people—some of them—are not yet acquainted with parcels post regulations and particularly that rule which forbids the use of ordinary postage stamps on the parcels.

Gettysburg is promised plenty of theatricals during the next three weeks as a glance at the "Coming Events" will show. Two professional shows and three amateur plays are booked.

High rents are reported in view of the Fiftieth Anniversary celebration. Rumor has it that the owner of one large first floor room has been offered $1000 for the use of the place during ten days. It is desired, according to the rumor, for restaurant purposes.

The youngsters found it hard to take up their studies again after enjoying the brief Christmas vacation. Many vacant seats are noticed in the school rooms owing to the prevalence of measles in the town.

A visit to numerous town homes shows many prettily arranged Christmas trees still in place. Local people make it a point to outdo each other in this pretty custom.

A new fire escape has been placed on the south side of the Spangler building on Baltimore street.

Local automobile owners are receiving their tags for 1913. The tags are of the same size and design as in other years but are of olive green, the figures being white.

During the heavy rain storm that visited Gettysburg this morning heavy thunder was heard.

Preparatory service will be held in the College church at seven o'clock this evening.

INSPECTION FOR ALL

State Zoologist Surface would Inspect every orchard.

State Economic Zoologist H. A. Surface, believing that the money expended by the state in orchard inspection and demonstration work, has brought to the orchardists of the state much more in money than the state has expended, will ask the Legislature through the state Department of Agriculture, for $160,000 for this work for the coming two years. This is double the amount appropriated in 1911.

"It is highly important," said Dr. Surface "that every orchard in the state be inspected at least every year, but under the present system, it is about four years until the inspectors get around to an orchard inspected before. So far we have been able through our nursery inspection work to keep out of the state the gypsy moth that is costing the state of Massachusetts hundreds of thousands of dollars, but there should be more money available so we can thoroughly inspect all trees shipped into the state.

BAILEY DELIVERS HIS "SWAN SONG"

Bitterly Attacks Hearst and "Yellow Journals."

WANTS WHITE GOVERNMENT

Texas Senator Denounces Initiative and Referendum and Decries Woman's Suffrage.

Washington, Jan. 3.—Before a highly interested audience of his colleagues and many members of the house, and with the greatest crowd since the opening of this session of congress in the galleries, Senator Joseph W. Bailey, of Texas, delivered his "swan song" in the senate.

The Texan, whose resignation is expected immediately, denounced the initiative and referendum, sounded his opposition to woman's suffrage, declared for a "white men's government" in the south, and made such a bitter attack on William R. Hearst that it led to a clash with Senator Ashurst, of Arizona.

Reverting to an earlier attack on "yellow" newspapers and periodicals, Senator Bailey picked up a magazine published by Hearst.

"A moral pervert, a political degenerate, a physical coward," shouted Senator Bailey, referring to Hearst.

Senator Ashurst, of Arizona, jumped to his feet. "Mr. President, I would be false to friendship," he began.

"If you want to reply to that, you can do so outside," interrupted Bailey, heatedly.

"Very well, I'll do so," retorted Ashurst, sitting down.

Bailey quoted one of the letters published by Hearst, purporting to have been written by Mr. Bailey from the senate Feb. 26, 1900.

"I did not even become a member of the senate until March 4, 1901," he said. He declared Hearst had used "stolen letters" in an attempt to create the impression that the Standard Oil company controlled legislation, while many of the letters used, he said, were in fact unrelated to any matters of legislation.

Mr. Bailey spoke to his resolution, declaring that such a system of direct legislation as the initiative and referendum would establish is in conflict with the representative principle on which the republic is founded.

He declared the advocates of this "extraordinary form of government" had conducted a systematic campaign for years in behalf of their views. He desired, he said, to present arguments against such a system.

He quoted from Hamilton, Jefferson, Madison and others to show that they had never intended that representative government should give way to direct legislation by the people.

"This is a republic-democracy," he said, and again cited opinions of men identified with history to prove that a "representative democracy" was better than a true democracy. He said of President elect Wilson:

"I am a Democrat, and though I did not favor his selection, no man living hopes more for the success of his administration than I do."

Of the advocates of the direct form of government he said:

"They are mistaken in the belief that they can establish a direct form of government without overthrowing the whole structure of representative government. It has come to a choice between the side led by the mighty spirits of another day and the side led by the noisy demonstrators of today. For my part, I am ready to enlist under the banner of the mighty dead—of Washington, and Jefferson, and Madison.

"They say that representative government has broken down in our government. If that were true it would almost justify a revision. But I maintain it is not true. I maintain that the government is more representative of the people today than ever before in the history of the republic."

Bailey said the cry was: "Let the people rule!" He denounced that as false.

"There are the southern states," he said. "There is not a southern state that has adopted woman suffrage, and I hope they will not."

"I cannot understand how any woman wants to step down from the high pedestal upon which man has placed her to mingle in the broils and debaucheries of politics. No, the southern states believe in the rule of the men people. And not only in that, but in the white men people, and I agree with them."

Would Recognize China.

Washington, Jan. 3.—Senator Bacon, of Georgia, ranking member of the committee on foreign relations, introduced a resolution granting recognition to the republic of China. In introducing his resolution Senator Bacon stated that sufficient time has now elapsed to prove the stability of the new republic and that it is therefore entitled to recognition by the United States.

WILLIAM ROCKEFELLER.

Wealthy Man Evades Process Servers of House Committee.

CAN'T GET ROCKEFELLER

No Precedent Found For Arrest of Oil Man on a Warrant.

Washington, Jan. 3.—House officials were inclined to the view that the best way to reach William Rockefeller would be to have the house adopt a resolution instructing that an attachment be served upon the financier.

Process servers are trying to subpoena him to testify before the money trust probers.

The sergeant-at-arms has consulted Charles F. Crisp, the parliamentarian of the house, who failed to find any precedent. If a summons actually had been served upon Rockefeller there would be no doubt as to the right to serve upon him a criminal warrant on the ground of being a contumacious witness.

PRISON AND FINES FOR IDAHO EDITORS

Guilty of Contempt For Comment on Decision.

Boise, Idaho, Jan. 3.—R. S. Sheridan and C. O. Broxon, publisher and managing editor of the Boise Capital News, and A. R. Cruzen were found guilty of contempt of court by the state supreme court and sentenced to ten days in the county jail and fined $500 each.

The paper had printed and commented editorially upon a message to the people of Idaho from Colonel Roosevelt, criticizing adversely a decision of the court by which names of Progressive candidates for electors were barred from ballots in Idaho. Cruzen was charged in the complaint with being interested in the newspaper. The costs also were assessed against Cruzen.

In the answer filed two weeks ago by Sheridan and Broxon, representing the Capital-News Publishing company, they admitted responsibility for publication of alleged contemptuous articles in the Capital-News, and in explanation said the articles were published in the belief of their privilege to do so under the right of free speech.

CHARGED WITH MURDER

Man Arrested in Virginia For Killing Lancaster County, Pa., Farmer.

Lancaster, Pa., Jan. 3.—Chief of Police Bushong started for Spottsylvania, Va., to bring back Chester Mayhew, a colored man, who is believed to have killed Patrick Rooney, the recluse, who was found beaten to insensibility in his barn house on Dec. 16, and died from his injuries Dec. 28.

Mayhew had worked on a farm adjoining that of Rooney's and a few days after the tragedy he disappeared. This gave the authorities a clue, and detectives were set to work to hunt for Mayhew, who was located near Spottsylvania and taken into custody by the sheriff.

The evidence is said to be very strong against Mayhew. Rooney was robbed of $30, all the money he was known to have in the house.

WANTED: girl for waitress in dining room, good position. Apply at once J. Times office.—advertisement.

Aged.
Algy had promised to take his best girl for a drive and had been round the various livery stables in the town with the idea of hiring a horse and carriage.
Unfortunately, all the horses were engaged except one exceedingly shaky, broken down veteran. Rather than disappoint his girl Algy hired the animal and drove it round to the residence of his beloved.
He rang the bell and told the servant to tell her mistress that he was ready for her. The answer came back that she would be down in a minute.
After a full hour's wait the fair lady appeared. She looked at the horse, and then she looked at Algy.
"Sir," she cried indignantly, "I refuse to go out with a broken down horse like this."
"Madam," replied Algy, with biting sarcasm, "when this horse first came round to your door he was a prancing young colt!"—London Answers.

Scott's Narrow Escape.

The world had a narrow escape of never having known a Sir Walter Scott. When a tiny babe he was left in charge of a maid, but the girl's heart was in Edinburgh, whither she wanted to go to rejoin her lover. She was, however, compelled to stay and look after the infant at Sandy Knowe. The girl regarded her charge as an obstacle to be removed and afterward confessed that she carried young Scott up to the crags under a strong temptation of the devil, as she expressed it, fully intending to cut his throat with her scissors and bury him under the moss.

RUMORS OF DOUBLE DIVORCE

Domestic Trouble, Complicated by Tales of Elopement and Separation, Culminate in Murder and Suicide.

Belmont, N. Y., Jan. 3.—Mrs. Henry C. Edey, who left home on the same train with Gardner Murdock, a liveryman, on Aug. 1 last, but who returned home on Nov. 13, was shot and killed by her husband in the bedroom of their handsome Long Island country home here.

The rich retired banker, whose brother is a member of the brokerage firm of Huhn, Edey & Co., then sent a bullet through his right temple. He died an hour later without having made any statement that would explain the murder of his wife and his own suicide.

The tragedy ends a romance which in some phases bore a striking resemblance to that which culminated about eleven months ago in the double suicide of Mrs. Suydam-Noble and her youthful husband, Frederick Noble.

That both Edey and his wife were contemptuous of the conventionalities of modern society was evinced last August when Mrs. Edey left Belmont on the same train with Gardner Murdock. Village tongues wagged instantly with the story of an elopement.

The elopement story was colored later by reports that Edey and his wife had entered into a compact whereby Mrs. Edey and Murdock were to obtain divorces in Texas and then marry and that Edey and Mrs. Murdock also were to marry.

These rumors were affirmed by Murdock in an interview given by him a few days after he and Mrs. Edey had left Belmont, but were denied later by Mr. Edey, who declared that the joint departure of Mrs. Edey and Murdock was mere "coincidence" and that there was no trouble between him and his wife.

Strength was lent to Mr. Edey's denial of an elopement when, in November, his wife returned to him.

The gossip accompanying the departure of Mrs. Edey with Murdock, however, did not subside when Mrs. Edey returned to her husband, and many former friends of the couple shunned them. This is said to have preyed upon Mr. Edey's mind.

Edey and his wife retired at the usual hour. In the adjoining room their daughter Mary slept.

While the domestics were busy preparing breakfast they heard two shots ring out from the Edey bedroom. The ominous silence that followed was broken a minute later by a quivering scream from the head of the stairs. It was the little girl's voice.

"Oh, come up! Come up!" she screamed.

The two domestics hurried upstairs, and while one held the little girl back the other entered her parents' bedroom. Mrs. Edey was found lying limp across the bed, with a bullet wound in the back of her head. Her husband lay near her on the floor, gasping painfully.

The domestics summoned Dr. F. C. Baldwin, the family physician. When he arrived Mrs. Edey was dead—she had died instantaneously the physician said—but Mr. Edey was still breathing.

Dr. Baldwin tried desperately to save the husband, but Edey died without having regained consciousness.

CHICAGO PAYROLL CUT

Twenty Thousand Employees Have Their Wages Reduced One-fifth.

Chicago, Jan. 3.—Twenty thousand city employees suffered a cut of 20 per cent in their salaries by the action of the city council at a special meeting. Practically every employee of the municipality is affected.

Mayor Harrison, whose salary, like those of a few others in high authority, was not affected, stated that he would voluntarily remit 20 per cent of his pay.

The cut was decided upon as the only solution of a budget estimate $1,500,000 greater than the revenue of the city. The reduction was bitterly opposed.

532 Killed in N. Y. Streets in 1912.

New York, Jan. 3.—Street accidents in New York during 1912 caused the deaths of 532 persons. Statistics made public by the National Highway Protective society show that 230 of those victims were children, of whom 103 were run over by automobiles. Of the total deaths, 221 were due to automobiles, 134 to trolley cars and 177 to wagons.

GRANTS ERROR WRIT IN DYNAMITE CASES

Counsel Takes First Step Toward Prisoners' Release.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 3.—A writ of error asked by the defense attorneys in the dynamite conspiracy cases was admitted by Judge Albert Anderson in the federal court.

The supersedeas writ, which would have admitted the thirty-three Leavenworth prisoners to bail, was withdrawn.

The case now goes before the United States circuit court of appeals at Chicago, which on Tuesday refused to grant a stay of execution of sentence.

When asked if all the convicted men were included in the appeal, Attorney Harding, for the defense, said that Herbert Hockin was satisfied with his sentence.

DYNAMITERS WORK IN JAIL

Potato Peeling, Steel Construction and Carpentering Jobs Given Prisoners.

Leavenworth, Kan., Jan. 3.—Peeling potatoes, carpentering and constructing steel buildings at the federal penitentiary here were some of the duties assigned to the thirty-three labor union officials convicted in the dynamite plot.

Olaf A. Tveitmo was assigned to do kitchen work. Also assigned to the kitchen, Herbert S. Hockin, the "lago" of the dynamite conspiracy, was handed a mop and put to swabbing the floors. Frank M. Ryan was set to work in the carpenter shop. Eugene Clancy was put to work in the store room.

Many of the other prisoners were given jobs of steel construction work. These included Michael J. Cannane, of Philadelphia.

ALLIES DEMAND ADRIANOPLE, TOO

Turks Say They Have Conceded the Limit.

THE CRISIS COMES TODAY

The Allies to Break Off Negotiations Unless Further Concessions Are Made.

London, Jan. 3.—The peace negotiations between the Balkan and the Turkish envoys will be broken off, according to Dr. S. Danef, the chief of the Bulgarian delegation, unless the map which the Turkish delegation is now preparing, showing the proposed boundary between Bulgaria and Turkey, should prove to be in accordance with the terms laid down by the allies.

Dr. Danef, in the course of an interview, said:

"The position of affairs has not changed so much for the better as people seem to imagine. It must be borne in mind that from the beginning Turkey has always said she would make certain concessions in Macedonia and Epirus and in part of the province of Thrace. That is all right as far as it goes, but there remains the question of Adrianople.

"The future of Adrianople is one of the most vital points in the negotiations, and as far as I can see no improvement of the situation in regard to it is to be expected when the new map is drawn up by the Turkish delegation of the proposed rectification of the boundary between Bulgaria and Turkey.

"If we find at today's meeting of the conference that the Turkish map is not in accordance with the terms offered by the allies and is unsatisfactory to us, the negotiations will be broken off.

"The second difficulty is in connection with the matter of the islands in the Aegean sea. There again we will insist upon our terms.

"In fact there is no ground for the impression that seems to exist in some quarters that we have the intention of modifying our terms as regards Turkey. Whatever we may do afterward with the European powers is not connected with our negotiations with Turkey.

"We are ready to acknowledge that some progress was made, but it is not necessary to bear in mind that the essential points before the conference have not been settled. Let us hope they will be at today's meeting."

Rehad Pasha, the leader of the Turkish plenipotentiaries, was equally emphatic on the subject of Adrianople. In the course of an interview he said:

"We have ceded Macedonia in a spirit of conciliation and with a great desire to avoid a renewal of the war. On two questions, however, we will not yield. We will give up neither Adrianople nor the islands in the Aegean sea."

The question of the Aegean islands is expected to be more easily arranged than that of the ultimate fate of the former capital of the Turkish empire. The Aegean, it is thought, may eventually be divided among the disputants.

The Roumanian minister of the interior has arrived in London for the purpose of consulting the delegates to the peace and ambassadorial conferences concerning the new status of Roumania as a result of the war.

The Greek minister has invited all the peace delegates, including the Turks, to dine with him on the Greek New Year, Jan. 7.

A dispatch to the Daily Mail from Belgrade says that a meeting has been fixed for today at Nish between M. Pachitch and M. Guenchoff, respectively the Serbian and Bulgarian premiers.

3 BURNED IN HOTEL FIRE

Several Other Guests Just Escape With Their Lives.

Keystone, W. Va., Jan. 3.—Three men were burned to death and a number of others narrowly escaped with their lives when the four-story Wilson hotel here burned.

The dead are: James L. Reynolds, a lumberman, of Buchanan county, Va., and two unidentified lumbermen. The men were asleep in the third story of the hotel when the fire, whose origin is unknown, cut off their escape. The property loss was $50,000.

New Year's Ball Costs $5 a Minute.

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 3.—That it cost Charles W. Clark, son of the Montana copper king, $5 a minute for a New Year's ball it was learned. Clark, with a party of friends, came to San Francisco for a New Year's celebration. Going into a cafe they asked to use the ballroom. Finally the proprietor offered to clear it for $1000. Clark accepted and his party danced for three hours.

Made Head of Claims Court.

Washington, Jan. 3.—President Taft nominated Fenton W. Booth, of Illinois, now justice of the court of claims, to be chief justice of that court, succeeding Stanton J. Peele, and Henry Sherman Boutell, of Illinois, to be a justice of that court, succeeding Booth. Mr. Boutell is now minister to Switzerland.

HOLDS UP TICKET AGENT

Man With Revolver Commits Daring Robbery in New York.

New York, Jan. 3.—A young man with a 44-caliber revolver in his pocket marched into the new ticket office of the Erie railroad on the ground floor of the Wilson building, at 1278 Broadway.

While the crowds jammed past the office the young man thrust his revolver under the nose of the one clerk in the place and robbed the cash drawer of $200.

He made the clerk crouch down behind the counter and backed out of the door into the night, with the revolver still leveled.

Detectives all over New York city are looking for him. The clerk, Joseph Farrell, is thirty-five years old and has been with the Erie for many years. He is a trusted man.

GENERAL ELECTION IN BRITAIN LIKELY

May Come as Result of the Home Rule Bill.

London, Jan. 3.—The alleged fear of Irish-American influence on the projected Irish parliament was urged by Earl Winterton in the house of commons as a reason for amending the home rule bill so as to prevent the Irish parliament from passing resolutions on subjects upon which it is forbidden to legislate.

Earl Winterton and two other Unionist members, Sir Frederick Bagnall and Sir Gilbert Parker, contended that in a time of crisis the Irish parliament could adopt resolutions which would greatly endanger the interests of Great Britain and it might even send a representative to Washington. They argued that the stability of the Nationalist party was maintained by Irish-Americans and "those who paid the piper were entitled to call the tune."

Augustine Birrell, chief secretary for Ireland, and John Dillon offered the amendment, which was defeated by 279 against 154 votes.

The possibility of an early general election in the United Kingdom was widely spoken of as a result of Premier Asquith's pointed question to the Unionists in the house of commons, when he asked them to declare clearly what their attitude would be if the home rule bill were submitted to the electorate and approved.

The reply of Andrew Bonar Law, leader of the opposition, that in that case the Conservative party would not encourage the Ulsterites to resist the measure is regarded as significant.

CASTRO ANXIOUS TO GO

Complicates Things by Desire Not to Have Admissibility Passed Upon.

Washington, Jan. 3.—Cipriano Castro's case has not been settled despite the willingness of the former Venezuelan dictator to leave the United States.

Secretary Nagel began consideration of Castro's request to be permitted to sail tomorrow on the steamer Amerika for Germany. He came from France, so that presents a vexatious problem, with the possibility that if Germany bars him he would be returned to New York and finally to France.

Castro has raised another complication by wishing to leave without having the United States pass upon his admissibility.

Prisoner Fails Escape.

Trenton, N. J., Jan. 3.—John Kellar made a sensational effort to escape from prison by climbing a lightning rod and reaching the roof of one of the buildings. He was detected there through an alarm given by another prisoner and easily captured.

Papers Increase to Two Cents.

Bridgeport, Conn., Jan. 3.—The four daily newspapers here announced an increase in price from one cent to two cents. It is declared that the cost of printing materials and paper, coupled with the general higher cost of living, made the advance necessary.

Believe Suspect Robbed Women.

Wilmington, Del., Jan. 3.—Henry Davis, a negro, was arrested on suspicion of robbing Miss Sarah Hetherington, of 1504 Broome street, of her handbag. She identified the negro, who is believed to have held up and robbed Miss L. H. Hitchcock also.

FOUND DYING

Cumberland County Farmer Found Lying in Pool of Blood.

Edward Mayberry, a prominent citizen of near Carlisle, was found lying in a pool of blood in a field near his home Wednesday morning. He had gone out into the field to shoot a rabbit which he had seen. When he didn't return in the course of a half hour, a young man named Shaffner, a visitor at the Mayberry home, went out to look for him. Shaffner found Mr. Mayberry lying on the ground. He expired shortly after being carried to his home. It is thought that he stumbled and fell and discharged the gun accidentally. Mr. Mayberry had been ill for some time but had been able to get about. He was 45 years old and is survived by his wife, a father and two daughters.

INGENIOUS PRISONERS.

They Won a Pardon For Their Daring Attempt to Escape.

Among the prisoners in the French convict settlement of New Caledonia were two marine engineers who not long ago received a pardon—strange as it may seem—for making a daring and ingenious attempt to escape. Living together in the same hut these men were engaged for years in digging a secret tunnel from their hut to the beach. At the end of the tunnel they hollowed out a chamber in which, with pieces of driftwood and little bits of steel and iron smuggled into the hut, they fashioned a boat, the metal being at first used to make tools and afterward to form bolts and rivets. Then with infinite pains they built an engine to propel the boat, and after laboring mightily for seven years they completed their task. Everything was ready except the provisioning of the vessel, when they were betrayed by a fellow convict to whom they had confided their plan. But so impressed was the French commandant by their marvelous energy, skill and patience that he managed after a year to obtain a pardon for them.—Pearson's Weekly.

Tanning Rabbit Skins.

To tan rabbit skins with the fur on lay the skin on a smooth board, the fur side underneath, and fasten it down with tacks. Wash it over first with a solution of salt and water, then dissolve two and a half ounces of alum in one pint of warm water and with a sponge dipped in the solution moisten the surface all over. Repeat this operation every four or five hours for three days. When the skin is quite dry take out the tacks and, rolling it loosely the long way, the hair inside, draw it quickly through a large smooth ring until it is quite soft, then roll it the contrary way of the skin and repeat the operation. Skins thus prepared are useful for many domestic purposes.—London Mail.

In a Perfume Factory.

Musk is perhaps the most valuable and delightful of all perfumes, yet the refiner, as he opens the musk pods, must wear thick cloths over mouth and nostrils, so repulsive is the odor that the pods emit. Indeed this odor inhaled for any length of time causes nosebleed. Civet, karmaline and ambergris have in small quantities a delicious perfume, but in large quantities they smell so abominably as to give the worker nausea. The hawthorn blossom is delicately sweet, and perfumers prize it highly, yet a roomful of hawthorn blossoms smells like a chamber house. This, too, is true of the tuberose.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Explaining What a Snob Really Is.

"Uncle Roy, what is a snob?" "A snob, Eddie, is a person who inherits a great deal of money, goes abroad and buys himself a veneer of culture, returns home and poses as a connoisseur of something, and goes around calling his poor relations 'parvenus.' Why do you ask such a question, Eddie?" "Because I heard Donald's big brother talking about you this afternoon and he said you were a snob."—Kansas City Star.

Unfeeling.

"My husband is a brute," said the excitable woman. "Have you been scolding him?" "Of course I have." "Ah, I supposed he talked back and used harsh language." "Worse than that! He yawned!"

"Life Is Short," Says Josh Billings.

"but it is long enough to ruin every man who wants to be ruined."

THE MEASURE of any business in the eternal fitness of things is service-human service. This elemental measure has been the rule by which our business has been built in the passing of the years and as the New Year is faced it is the rule which must govern our every effort. No man can succeed in business in this age who is in it for himself alone. First, last and all the time the business must be the best possible human service for others and incidentally the quality of the service determines what the one back of it will get out of it for himself. The gathering by this store from the markets of the world of a large and well selected assortment of Dry Goods, Notions, Carpets, etc., is human service. The ease and comfort afforded the buyer in selecting from these goods according to his or her needs in human service. Our aim has always been and will always be to give the best stock and best accommodations in selecting from that stock. That is the service we promise for the year ahead, and our best hostage for this promise is what we have done in the past. With this goes---

Our very best wishes for a

AN OLD CLOTHES MODEL.

Why the Poor Man Posed in the Rich Man's Garments.

"Of all queer jobs last night's was queerest," said the impecunious man "About 5 o'clock I called on a rich man on whom I have a kind of claim and asked for a small loan. He said he had nothing to lend, but that if I would come up to his house about 8 o'clock he would give me a job where by I could earn a couple of dollars. I went. The rich man sat before a pile of old clothes.

"I am going to give away all these things that are not fit to wear," he said. "That is what I want you for—to find out which suits still look decent. I can't get much of an idea when they're on myself, but you've got a tidy figure, and anything that looks well on you will still pass muster on me, and I'll keep it."

"I began to try on clothes. I turned and twisted while that man examined his stock. Finally he determined to send six suits to the Salvation Army. The rest he guessed looked classy enough to wear on rainy days. For my evening's work he gave me $2 and a suit of cast off clothes."—New York Press.
